Unfortunately, due to extenuating circumstances we have made the decision to postpone the afternoon tea which was scheduled for this Saturday (24th). We are so sorry, however, we plan to set a new date for the end of August or start of September. We will of course refund your ticket or if the new date suits you we can just re-issue you a new ticket.

THANK YOU
DANKE Merci

We are so grateful to God for Calum, Liz, Douglas & Fergus. Thank you for your ministry to us all and we hope you have a great pulpit exchange to New York and manage to get some time for R&R.

Greetings Friends,

I look forward to returning to the Avendale and Drumclog Church this summer! As a re-introduction, my name is Rev. Casey Carbone, and I currently serve as the Director for Congregational Connections for Hudson River Presbytery. Since we last met, I have continued to love music, tech, traveling, and spending time in God's beautiful creation.

Since the last time we saw each other, I no longer have a traditional pulpit to call my own. Instead, as a full-time presbytery staff person, I resource churches, provide opportunities for leadership training, and help provide financial resources through grants. I get excited about helping make churches' vision for ministry in the 21st century a reality!

As a typical American pastor fueled by coffee, I look forward to grabbing an excellent pour-over coffee at Roasted (I enjoy espresso-based drinks but love my American filter coffee a little more)! In addition, I look forward to seeing familiar faces, making new friends, and being back in the pulpit this season of work, travel, and exploration.

If you're curious, I'll be preaching a series of sermons from the Book of Acts on the theme of "Discerning Discipleship."

Grace and peace,
Rev. Casey Carbone

Book Group

Are you looking for some summer reading, which you can then discuss with others? Then look no further, as we are starting up our very own church book group. We will meet roughly every six weeks, however you do not need to commit to every book. When we meet we will discuss the book (all thought and opinions are valid - remember, not every book is for every person!) and of course have some drinks and nibbles!

The first few books will be:

- We Died Before We Came Here -Emily Foreman
- Just Mercy - Bryan Stevenson (apparently there is also a Young Adult version of this which may be a quicker read for some!)
- A Praying Church - Paul E Miller

Andy Lacey is going to order copies of these, which people could purchase at church and proceeds would support the Glo bookshop, which we would encourage folks to do.

Conventicle

Sunday 4th June - 3pm

The Drumclog Conventicle was a memorable service remembering the sacrifices of those who have gone before. We were basking in the most beautiful weather and refreshments were laid on. And our local MP, Lisa Cameron was in attendance.

CHURCH FAMILY BBQ

Huge congratulations to Johnny and Lucy Harris who attend Drumclog as they were married last week. We wish them so much happiness as they let God guide them in their lives together.
